

Government Asks Data On Unemployed

Special Clerks Scan Records of 90,000 County Relief Cases

Ordered by the federal government, a census of the county's 90,000 relief cases got under way recently. More than 200 special clerks, scanning the records of the district welfare and unemployment relief office that serves this community, were engaged today in furnishing the government data.

The census, according to charities department officials, will inquire into the status of every local resident who is on relief rolls. It was learned. The information called for in telegraphic instructions asks for the following: and must be supplied in 10 days: Name, residence and race of head of family; age and sex of each person in family; date of last employment with private enterprise and name of last employer; date the person left last employment; first month of 1933 the person received aid, from public funds; total amount received from public funds during the first four weeks in October; and whether the person has received any outside income while receiving public aid.

In addition to the data required by the federal government the charities department will take an additional census to show the period of residence in Los Angeles county of every person who is receiving either direct or unemployment relief, according to Earl E. Jensen, superintendent.

Federal instructions do not require any tabulation of the facts obtained by the census. Individual cards on each case are required to be sent to Sacramento, where tabulations will be made for the entire state and sent to Washington from there. The county plans to make its own tabulation before the date is sent to Sacramento, it was stated.

Change In Zoning Regulations Approved By Keystone Residents

Advisability of zoning the Keystone district to keep out certain types of commercial activity is "under advisement" today by the county regional planning commission and residents of the district, following a meeting held recently at the Carson street school.

A thorough explanation of zoning regulations, and the advisability of certain types of zoning was given the residents by Kenneth Sampson, assistant zoning engineer. The unincorporated area, which is about two square miles, is centered about the intersection of Carson and Main streets. Further extension of the dairy industry was the cause of considerable agitation some weeks ago.

Through S. C. Stull, secretary of the Keystone Chamber of Commerce, it was learned that residents objected to the odor of the dairies, and the mosquitoes and flies which they attract. There is declared to be no effective deed restrictions in the area, and most of the residents who live there own their own homes.

At the recent meeting it was explained that the area now is in the M-3 zone, which permits unlimited manufacturing. It was proposed to place the area in an R-5 zone, and the boulevard frontage in a C-3 zone. This change, Sampson told the residents, would permit any agricultural use, poultry and rabbit raising, as well as nurseries, orchards, farm produce, gardening, bee culture and similar uses. Also, it would not prohibit selling of farm produce or poultry on roadside stands.

Notables See Stanford Victory

Former President Herbert Hoover, the first football manager ever installed at Stanford University, became just another football fan Saturday when he watched his alma mater soundly trounce the "world champion" University of Southern California eleven at Los Angeles. Construction of Girls Clubhouse Well Under Way

Volunteer Contributions of Labor Invited to Help Make Building Complete

Lumber was hauled this week to the site of the new Girl Scout clubhouse which will be built out of an appropriation of $250 by the city on a lot belonging to the Dominguez Land Corporation which has generously donated the use of it for the purpose.

The clubhouse will be located on El Prado near the high school, and will be a building 20x30, one story frame structure.

The inside is to be left unfinished, so that the girls of the troops may decorate it to their fancy with their pennants and trophies of scouting.

One end will be partitioned off to make a small kitchen which will be fitted up as soon as the girls can raise funds for the purpose.

Since the appropriation for the building is only adequate to cover the materials and construction of the building, the Girl Scouts and City Engineer Frank Leonard, who has the matter in charge, would appreciate a little volunteer assistance on the part of Torrance people who are interested in the promotion of this excellent enterprise.

Volunteer labor would cut down the cost so that any unexpended sum in the appropriation could be used for additional equipment to make the place still more useful to the girls.

For instance, the restroom under the present appropriation will contain only a toilet, but no washstand, and the kitchenette will perhaps have a sink and perhaps not, depending upon whether the money holds out. The kitchenette needs a sink and a small gas stove. The assembly room will need a gas heater. All these things will have to wait unless some donations are made to the cause.

The clubhouse project was sponsored for the Girl Scouts by the National Business and Professional Women of Torrance which organization voted to be responsible for a moderate additional sum should the cost of the construction exceed the appropriation.

Other individuals who are interested in promoting Girl Scouting activities are invited to come forward with a little aid, and those who do so may contact City Engineer Frank Leonard who will direct the building work.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee." These words of Isaiah are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul and Body" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scriptural citations includes other words of Isaiah, "Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness." Another selection gives Paul's words to the Galatians, "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Man understands spiritual existence in proportion as his treasures of Truth and Love are enlarged. . . . This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace."
